Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2013

Not an end, but a beginning, is the departure from Westwood.

Faces warm to a shining sun, we can stand,
and our shadows are cast behind us;

For the footpath on which we will walk from her—

—unsure and uncertain, for each one of us his own—

She has helped us to sketch by teaching us to draw;
She has given us our first silver sip
from the cup of knowledge;
She had infused artistry and craftsmanship into our hands and minds.

In order that one day we will paint our laughter in pastels and raise our aspirations on a hard metal spire.

She has given us mundane and ephemeral, unimportant and essential, petty and memorable:

Gray lockers we could slam,
Chemical vials we could mix,
Athletes we could cheer,
Music we could feel,
Friendships we could share, Understanding we will use tomorrow.

And yet
What she has given us is a glimpse of the gift of ourselves.

For we are a wind;
and she,
a green inlet of the sea
And as we blow over the inlet out to the wider ocean,
She has caught our achievements and failures
In the crests and troughs of purling waves.

WE ARE WESTWOOD . . .

We are all that she has done and all that she has left undone.

The course we begin away from this inlet—away from the space of this building—

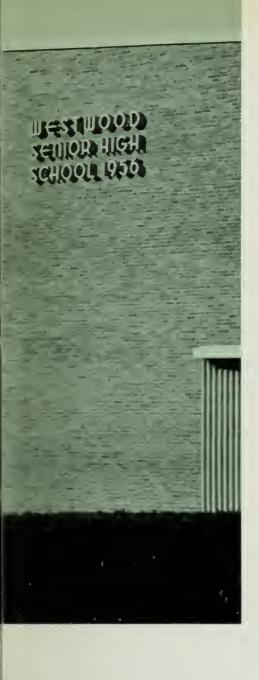

Leads to higher crests topped with spray,

Deeper troughs laced by foam.

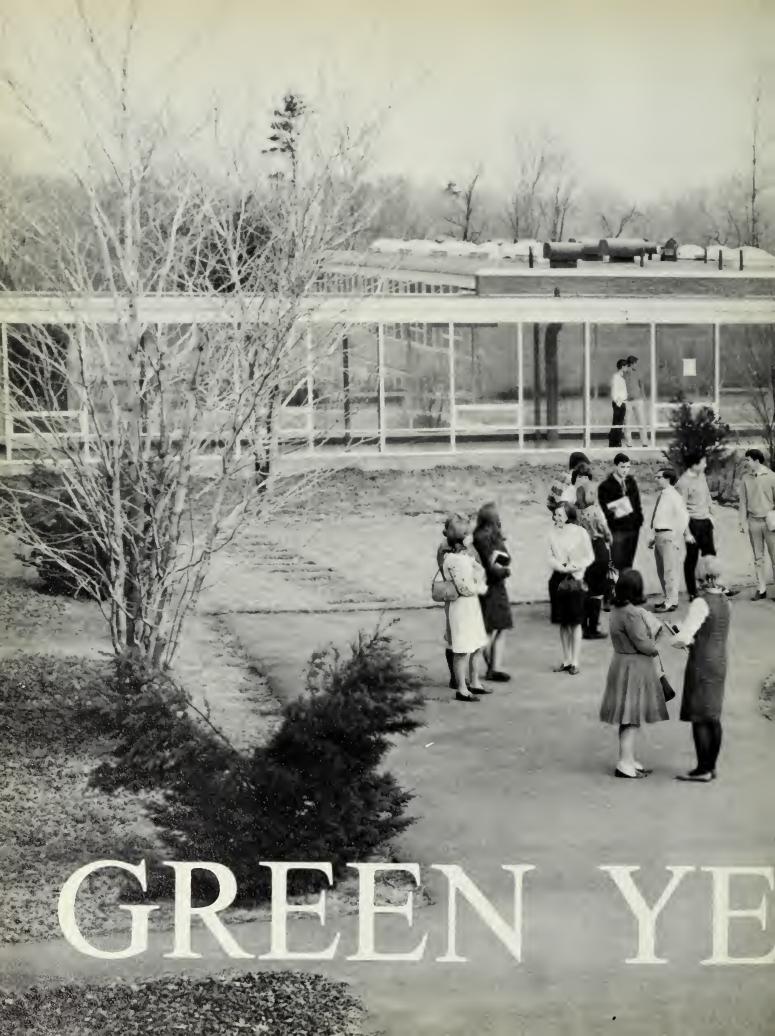

But the green inlet that is Westwood will be unchanged,
But for the new patterns in her waves.

DEDICATION

As a token of our gratitude, we, the class of 1966, dedicate this yearbook to you, Mr. Cieri. You have helped us with your advice, trained us with your patience, and befriended us with your personality. For this, and for all the invaluable time you have unsparingly given us, we hope that you will remember our class as we remember you—a true and loyal friend.

Mathematics . . .

Mr. Pender

In addition to college preparatory courses in algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and calculus, the progressive math department is a participant in Project H-212. This is a computer research project designed to work the use of a timeshared computer into the curriculum for the purpose of augmenting classroom instruction in Math.

and Science

Miss O'Malley

Enthusiastic participation and leadership has made the Science Department a success. The annual fair gives evidence of hard work and great preparation on the part of the entire department. In addition to these activities, Westwood High School has begun to send two students each year to the Junior Science Symposium.

Mr. Sarris Head of Science Department

Mr. Flahive

Mrs. Bergen

Mrs. Healy Head of Business Department

Mr. Nolan

Mr. Bader Director of

Physical Education

Through directed games and regular exercise, the Physical Education Department keeps the student's physical condition as excellent as the other departments keep his mental proficiency.

Miss Fazzi

Mr. Tuccelli

Art, Music, Library

Mr. Wellsman

Artist at work.

The Art Department offers beginning courses as well as more advanced study to interested students. Many pupils discover latent talents in taking art; others find it a relaxing form of expression.

MUSIC

Through long hours of rehearsal, Westwood High School's musical activities produce choral and band concerts every year. Chorus, Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, Orchestra, Band, and Music Appreciation all awaken an interest in music within many students.

Mr. Markarian

LIBRARY

Mrs. Bradley provides much help and guidance for students using the continuously expanding library. A fine collection of books for reference, research, and pleasurable reading is available to all students.

Home Economics . . .

The Home Economics Department provides many courses to prepare girls for a successful future as homemakers.

This year a new course in Psychology was added to the curriculum.

Mrs. Burke

Miss Knight Head of Home Economics Department

Mrs. Farnham

SENIORS

The Senior is a scrambled combination of boundless energy and an incessant urge to discover,
to experience,
and to achieve.
His personality is many-sided, for he is searching for identity.
He is not yet
in complete control of himself.
He recalls nostalgically
the last four years,
rewarding years,
years encompassing friendships and laughter,

learning and understanding, dreams and aspirations.
Each senior sees before him the challenge of an indefinable future; each will now follow a path compatible to his own nature. Some will succeed, where others will fail.
And yet, each, in his own right, will lay claim to some small fame, or some large goal and each will find his place in this mechanical world.

THE FLEDGLINGS

We are the children of time.

With each new season of our growth we find ourselves a deeper part of nature. World, do not pride yourself upon this growth, We, like the fledglings, now have wings. Press upon us not too soon. Though we are almost ready—our fledgling wings tremble. "The world which seems to lie before us like a land of dreams, so various, so beautiful, so new, Hath really neither joy, nor peace, nor certitude." We need distance to discern our world. Our wings beat on the ripples and drifts of your time,

But our course, our heartbeats, our prayers cannot be the same. Our songs must fortify our faith.

Press not too close. We love you

But we must fly.

—Lisa Kapuscinski

The Class of '66 Looks Back . . .

September, 1962

Eager yet naive as freshmen we face the rigors of our high school education amid the rumor, "Mr. Flaherty hates freshmen," and the fear of upperclassmen. It is a bewildering experience for we face a revolutionary room-numbering system and confusing A blocks. Does anyone forsee great achievements for this intimidated class?

January, 1963

The new year has rung in new class officers — President, John Smith; Vice President, Christine Biel; Secretary, Joyce Walker; and Treasurer, Lisa Kapuscinski. Lisa is temporarily unemployed so we are busy organizing our first class dance, Cupid's Mad Pad for — you guessed it — Valentine's Day.

October, 1963

Now that we have achieved superior sophomore status, we no longer cower past room 33. Our new class officers, President, David Ripley; Vice President, Locky Macdonald; Secretary, Susan North; and Treasurer, Sally Conlin, and our class, typical of most governments, is operating in debt. However, the spooky Dance Macabre is coming soon. Maybe that will help.

April, 1964

We are in the middle of the usual spring rush. Our "superior" sophomore class has taken most of the Science Fair awards. Next year's schedules are being fought over, and new officers are being elected.

December, 1964

Our junior year as proud upperclassmen we tackle the second half of high school. We are finally beginning to understand the new computed programming and rotating schedules, or at least we think we do. But our class deficit is worse than ever, for our Treasurer, Sally Conlin; under Dave Ripley as President, Peter Geary, as Vice President and Susan North, as Secretary, reports no money! We may be the largest class, but we are also the poorest class that ever came through Westwood High. We even lack the money to decorate and name our Junior Class Dance. All must be saved for the prom.

May, 1965

We have successfully planned and held our Junior-Senior Prom, Aloha Oe. The band has returned from a marvelous exchange concert with Portland, Connecticut, and a performance at the United States Pavillion of the New York World's Fair. Thirty-six members of our class have been elected to and inducted into the National Honor Society. Karen Oetinger will be leaving soon for her summer A.F.S. home in Peru. John Seigle will leave for Italy during the summer for a year's sojourn there.

September, 1965

Unbelievably we are Seniors. With President, David Ripley; Vice President, John Smith; Secretary Susan North; and Treasurer, Sally Conlin (history is repeating itself) we plunge into our last and best year at Westwood High. With great pleasure we welcomed our A.F.S. friend from Japan. After we had mastered the spelling and pronunciation of Toshio Tsuneyuki's name, we entrusted him to Geoff Brown, his American brother, to guide him in the ways of an all-American boy. Money A Go-Go is our first dance of the year.

February, 1966

We are counting the few months until graduation. "Night of January 16th" by Ayn Rand provided us with an exciting murder trial for a successful Senior Class Play. Peter Geary has been elected to represent us on Student Government Day at the State House. Scholastically we hit a new high. Two more members of our class were inducted in the National Honor Society, and six members were awarded Certificates of Achievement of National Merit Scholarship Finalist standing. Furthermore, several 800's were achieved by our class members on College Boards.

Our second class dance has been held, appropriately entitled "Hang On, Seniors!".

We rated recognition as highest high school in the state on a Massachusetts Math Contest. Steve Glass achieved finalist standing.

April, 1966

Looking back on our class achievements we feel justified in our pride in ourselves and in W.H.S. Besides scholastic honors, we have an honorable Math Team, the Basketball Team has made the Gardens in the Tech Tourney all four years. Other sports have had their commendable years. At present seven-eights of the Double Quartet are seniors. We have brought home several trophies from the South Eastern Music Festival, and we have had able representation in District and All State Chorus and Band. We feel sad to end our fruitful high school years; yet, new adventures becken us onward.

JUNIOR PROM

The Junior-Senior Prom, held on May 21, 1965, was certainly one of the most beautiful Westwood High School has ever seen. The gymnasium was transformed into a Hawaiian Paradise with a glowing volcano, a fountain, tables under a thatched roof, lovely scenes on the walls, and the inspiring dancing music of Mr. Monaghan's talented band. Upon entering the prom, which was called Aloha Oe, the guests crossed an orchid-covered bridge. Everyone present was reluctant to leave the tropical atmosphere of this enjoyable evening.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The Senior Class presented an excited courtroom drama, The Night of January 16th, by Ayn Rand. Miss Sheehan proved to be an able director, as the performance drew the praises of a capacity crowd. The cast was thankful to have a few tips on acting tactics from the experience of Mrs. Anderson. High points were the exciting testimony of an eccentric Swedish housekeeper, the unexpected arrival of a gangster, Larry Regan, and the slinky entrance of a night-club owner's wife. The play provided excellent entertainment for all in attendance.

ACTIVITIES

The student is expected and encouraged to contribute freely of his time and his talents beyond the requirements. Whether it is as an actor in the senior play, as an active participant in a language or science club, as a contributor to the Nahatan News, or as a musician, the student has the opportunity to share his ideas and to acquire new ones. The student will participate and will work constructively toward some singular goal—and he will develop into a person of worthwhile character and sound reasoning.

FUTURE NURSES AND TEACHERS

Under the leadership of President Prudence Stone, Vice-President Patricia Houston, Secretary Nancy Brown, and Treasurer Judy Hart, this year's Future Nurses' Club has sent packages to Vietnam at Christmas, has had speakers from the Armed Forces and from nursing schools, held the annual party at the Wrentham State School for Retarded Children, and supported an orphan through the Christian Children's Fund. This active group certainly does a great deal to prepare the students for a career in nursing.

The members of the Future Teachers' Club will profit greatly from their experiences this year, which include the traditional Christmas party for the Special Class at the Pine Hill School, observing the grade of their choice weekly, listening to speakers, and visiting schools and colleges. The girls have been led this year by Kathy Harrington, President; MaryLou Supple, Vice-President; Kathie O'Kane, Secretary; Phyllis Hyder, Treasurer and Miss Liston, Advisor.

FRENCH AND SPANISH CLUBS

The French Club this year has been motivated by some of the newest ideas the association has ever seen. President Kitty Wells, Vice-President Cathy Bowman, Secretary Judi Kelemen, Treasurer Sandy McCoy, and Advisor Mrs. Edwards have guided the Club on an exciting itinerary, which includes a trip to a French restaurant, to a French movie in Boston, a club-sponsored dance, Apache a Go-Go, and visits by guest speakers.

This year's Spanish Club, under the guidance of Mr. DunLany, has been headed by officers Karen Oetinger, Linda Taylor, and Claire Murphy. Guest speakers, preparation of a Spanish meal, and attendance at the performances of Spanish artists, were some of the club's activities planned to give a greater familiarity with the Spanish-speaking world.

CHESS AND LIBRARY CLUBS

Led by the fantastic Mr. Beurman, Westwood's quick-witted chess team is composed of seven out of the twenty members of the club. The team is a member of the Western Division of the South Shore Interscholastic Chess League, and expects to rate at least second in the division. The team is competing for the League trophy and ultimately the state title. This year the League's Individual Tournament will be held at Westwood and trophies will be awarded.

The school library, an important part of scholastic preparations, has been kept available and arranged for all students by Mrs. Bradley and the Library Club.

Duties of the club members include arranging shelves and tables, answering students' questions, and guiding class visits.

The Westwood High School Math Team placed eighth among the 49 schools participating in the Greater Boston Math League. The team, which includes Peter Enberg, Peter Johnson, Dorothy Kinraide, Michael Onorato, Judy Richardson, and Dean Hanley, has finished consistently high in a division with Needham, Canton, and Norwood.

This year is the fifth consecutive in which Mr. Pender's proteges will participate in the ten-team league playoff held in May.

Westwood High School's outstanding musical talents were again displayed at the Christmas and Spring Concerts which are held annually. The Chorus, Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs, and Double Quartet provided another fruitful year in the vocal artistry of the high school students. Selected members from these groups participated in the District Concert at Hingham and the Allstate Concert at Fitchburg.

CHEERLEADERS

The Westwood High Cheerleaders, under the leadership of two senior Co-captains, Ingrid Olson and Janice Sweeney, have done much in promoting school spirit. The squad this year consisted of eight seniors, two juniors, one sophomore and one freshman.

They deserve a round of applause for their great enthusiasm and hard work throughout the year.

SPORTS

The role of athletics is an important one in any high school;
sports and its drama,
fostering a sense of self-pride, and providing a means for identity.
The discipline
of the team members, the enthusiasm of the students and spectators,

and the thrill of the actual game combine to make sports a unique part of Westwood High School.
The sportsman

The football team had a disappointing season this year with only two wins. Co-Captain and quarterback John Smith was injured during the first game and was unable to play for most of the season. Co-Captain Gary Youlden led the team in yards gained and was a defensive mainstay. The highlight of the season was the near upset of a heavily favored Holbrook team in the Thanksgiving game.

Westwood Makes Tech

The 1965-66 season saw the basketball team participate in the Tech Tourney for the sixth year in a row. Along the way the Wolverines compiled a record of 20 wins and 3 losses and established a school record with eighteen regular season victories.

With seniors John Smith, Don Weafer, Co-Captains Bill Weber and Peter Geary, and junior Steve Geary the starters, the Team advanced to the semifinal round of the tourney. It was the fifth straight year it has played in Boston Garden, all five under Coach John Cieri who has a 93 - 13 record as basketball coach.

In addition, Peter Geary, John Smith, and Bill Weber were selected to play in the Dual County All-Star game.

Westwood High, after an undefeated season in Spring Track in 1965, added Winter Track to its athletic platform in 1966, resulting in the completion of a successful campaign. Seniors Mike Scanlon and Gary Youlden were standouts in leading the team in its winning efforts. Several promising underclassmen indicate that Westwood will be a major track power in future years.

HOCKEY

Led by Co-Captains Joe Croak and Barry Bassett, the Westwood hockey team ended the season in fifth place. The league was strengthened this year with the addition of Marian High School. The leading scorers for Westwood were Joe Croak and Steve Miller.

BASEBALL'65

With the Dual County League Championship under its belt, the Baseball Team enjoyed another fine season under Coach Downes. Seniors John Smith and Ron Saari paved the way with their heavy hitting. Smith divided his time between the mound and the outfield while Saari was outstanding at shortstop.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The girls' varsity basketball team had another successful season this year. High scoring seniors Mary Moran and Captain Judy Richardson led the team to a record of seven wins and three losses. These figures placed Westwood second in their league. Credit for their fine defensive work goes to senior Ruth Irving and sophomore Anne Marie Sullivan.

Captain Cathy Neal led the Junior Varsity on to capture first place in the league with nine wins and one loss. All the girls should be praised for their outstanding teamwork.
